ABSTRACT

A survey of 53 private career institutions in Nebraska (56 percent located in the Omaha area) revealed the following statistics for the period July 1, 1990 to June 30, 1991: (1) 9,275 students were enrolled; (2) business programs enrolled the largest percentage (35 percent) of the total student population, with business, trade, and technical programs making up 62 percent of the total student count; (3) real estate programs enrolled 14.5 percent, cosmetology--10 percent, modeling--7 percent, and health-related programs--3 percent of the reported student enrollment; (4) cosmetology had the greatest access with training given at 19 locations in 13 Nebraska communities; (5) 68 percent of the students were in the Omaha area and 25 percent were in Lincoln; (6) at least 90 percent of the students in business, cosmetology, and health programs were enrolled full time, whereas all of those in modeling and real estate were part-time students; (7) more women than men were enrolled in all the programs; and (8) about 85 percent of the students were white. (The report lists the schools surveyed and provides nine graphs showing the following: geographic distribution for private career institutions in Nebraska; programmatic distribution for the institutions; enrollment for program type, full time versus part time; program types by gender; enrollment by race or ethnic category; enrollment by age; completions by program type; completions by gender; and completions by race or ethnic category. Six tables show the same data.) (KC)

INTRODUCTION

This report was compiled from survey data provided by 42 private career institutions at the request of the Commission for Postsecondary Education.[1] Since these private career institutions are required to obtain state licensing through the Nebraska Department of Education, the data were forwarded from the Department of Education to the Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education for compilation of this report. This report complements other reports that provide similar information for Nebraska's public and independent two and four-year postsecondary institutions. The other reports are titled (1) "A Factual Look at Higher Education in Nebraska, Headcount Enrollment, Degrees Awarded, Institutional Finance, and Faculty Salaries" dated Winter 1992 and (2) "An Executive Summary - A Factual Look at Higher Education in Nebraska" dated April 1992.

This document describes data reported by 42 private career institutions in Nebraska covering July 1990 through June 1991. The data are not complete because some institutions do not collect data for all of the variables in the survey.[2] All 42 institutions reported a total headcount enrollment. However, some institutions do not record their students' ages, race/ethnic background, and/or gender. Of the total headcount enrollment, 96.5% was reported for full-time versus part-time enrollment, 73.6% for gender, 63% on age, and 63.5% for race/ethnic category.

Private career institution programs vary in duration from a few weeks for some real estate programs, to two years for certain business and trade and technical programs. Because their programs differ, completions have a specific meaning for a program type. For this report, a completer is defined as anyone who satisfactorily finishes a prescribed course of study at any of the 42 private career institutions. Types of completion awards at private career institutions include certificates, diplomas, and associate degrees for some programs. Thirty-four (81%) of the 42 institutions reported a total completers count. Of the 4,276 completers, 3504 (82%) were identified by gender, while 57% had race/ethnic category specified. The survey did not request age for completers.

[1]The Craftsman School and The Railway Education Bureau have the same ownership and the same address, so are considered here as one institution. Those private career institutions that are licensed by the Nebraska Department of Health, The Department of Motor Vehicles, or other, but not by the Nebraska Department of Education, are not reported here.

[2]The 42 institutions were asked to check the accuracy and completeness of the data for this report. Forty-one (97.6%) of the 42 reporting institutions responded to this verification request.

One hundred percent of the data that were reported to the Department of Education is recorded here. This report identifies general patterns based on the reported numbers.

This is the Commission's second report on private career (for-profit) schools in Nebraska. The first report was dated May, 1991. Eight of the 42 private career institutions in this report are reported for the first time. Private career training institutions are subject to business and employment changes. Their right to operate is determined by the Nebraska Department of Education.[3] This report recognizes change by providing comparisons for the current (1990-1991) data against 1989-1990 data from the May 1991 report.

The Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education appreciates the cooperation and efforts of Mr. Ikpe "Ben" Udofia of the Nebraska Department of Education as well as those persons at the private career institutions who completed the survey forms and validated the summary tables.

Please direct questions to Dr. John A. Ingram, Research Officer of the Coordinating Commission.

[3]The 42 institutions in this report are either authorized to operate, or are accredited, by the Nebraska Department of Education under the provisions of the Private Postsecondary Career School Act, Sections 79-2801 through 79-2858. Interested parties are directed to the Nebraska Department of Education for information about authorization or licensing, and accreditation for a specific program.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

HEADCOUNT ENROLLMENT

The geographic distribution for the reporting private career institutions in Nebraska is 30 locations in the Omaha area (Douglas, Sarpy counties), 10 in Lincoln, 3 in Grand Island, and 1 location in each of 10 other Nebraska communities. Over fifty-six percent of the 53 physical locations are in the Omaha area. The enrollment at these 53 locations in 13 Nebraska communities is 9,275 reported headcount enrollment for the period surveyed -- July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991. See Graphic 1 and Table 1. The headcount enrollment distribution by area was: Omaha, 68%; Lincoln, 24.5%; Grand Island, 3%; and other Nebraska communities, 4.5%.

In 1990-91, business programs enrolled the largest percentage (35%) of the total student population in private career institutions in Nebraska. Combined, business and trade and technical programs comprised 62% of the total reported headcount enrollment. Real estate programs enrolled 14.5%; cosmetology 10%; modeling and self-improvement 7%; and health related programs 3% of the reported student enrollment. Within reasonable variation these percentages are close to the 1989-90 rates.[4]

Some key observations are:

- The highest percentage of total headcount enrollment were 35% in business and 27% in trade and technical schools.
- Cosmetology had the greatest access with training given at 19 locations in 13 Nebraska communities.
- Sixty-eight percent of the headcount enrollment was in the Omaha area, and 24.5% was in Lincoln.

[4]The report for 1989-90 coded the Craftsman School and The Railway Education Bureau as "personal/career improvement." This (1990-91) report places them as "trade and technical" programs which gives 27% trade and technical enrollment versus 31% for the 1989-90 period.

At least 90% of the students in business, cosmetology, and health programs were enrolled full-time. In contrast, 100% of those reported in modeling/self-improvement and in real estate training were part-time students. Graphic 3 on page 5 and the Grand Total row in Table 1 on pages 6 and 7 summarize headcount enrollment by full-time/part-time students for 1990-91. The conclusion is that some programs, including business, cosmetology and health are offered principally, as full-time; other programs, specifically real estate and modeling are part-time offerings; programs in trade and technical training offer a mix of full and part-time attendance.

More women than men were enrolled in each of business, cosmetology, health and modeling programs. The percents for men and women enrolled in real estate training are unreliable because gender was not reported for 67% of the 1990-91 real estate headcount. Similarly, the distribution of men and women is in question for trade and technical programs. Otherwise, the patterns for headcount enrollment by gender are similar for 1990-91 to the patterns for 1989-90.

For race/ethnic background a meaningful summary results from comparing the 1990-91 results against rates for Nebraska's 1990 decennial Census of Population, ages 18 years +, and against the 1989-90 private career institutions' reported enrollments:

	Race or Ethnic Group
Nebraska Population and Private Career Institution Enrollment - 1990	White Non-Hispanic	Black	Hispanic	Native American	Asian or Pacific Islander	Other	Total
1990 Census of Population, ages 18 years +, Nebraska[5]	93.6%	3.1%	1.9%	0.6%	0.7%	0.1%	100.0%
1990-91 Reported U.S. Citizen Enrollment in Nebraska Private Career Institutions (adjusted to equal 100%)	85.8%	10.2%	1.9%	1.3%	0.8%	—	100.0%
1989-90 Reported U.S. Citizen Enrollment in Nebraska Private Career Institutions (adjusted to equal 100%)	83.6%	13.0%	1.8%	0.9%	0.7%	—	100.0%

[5]The 1990 Census data are from the U.S. Bureau of Census Summary Tape Files, STF1A.

For 1990-91 White, Non-Hispanic enrollment at Nebraska's private career institutions was a lower percentage than their membership in the 1990 Nebraska population 18 years and older. Meanwhile, the Black, Non-Hispanic and Native American groups were enrolled at a higher rate than in the Nebraska (1990 Census) population. The Hispanic and Asian/Pacific Islander enrollments were very close to their rates in the 1990 Nebraska population. The 1989-90 enrollment percentages confirm the 1990-91 patterns. See Graphic 5 and data Table 3 for more details.[6]

The following table compares the age distribution on enrollment for two consecutive years, 1989-90 against 1990-91:

	Age, Years
Year	Under 18	18-21	22-24	25-29	30-39	40 and over	Total
1989-90	8%	33%	16%	20%	17%	6%	100%
1990-91	6%	34%	17%	20%	17%	6%	100%

For the 1990-91 reported ages, 57% were 24 years or younger, 20% were between 25-29 years, 17% were 30-39 years, and 6% were 40 years and over. The traditional college ages, 18-24, predominate for Nebraska's private career institution enrollment. Still, a substantial 43% of the 1990-91 enrollment were 25 years or older. The percentages are very close for 1989-90 and 1990-91.

COMPLETIONS

For 1990-91, there were 4,276 completions for 34 (81%) of the 42 institutions reporting. The largest numbers of completions were in programs with the highest enrollments - business, real estate, and trade and technical schools. Business schools accounted for 30%, real estate 28%, trade and technical 18%, modeling/self improvement 11%, cosmetology 11%, and health 2% of the completions.

More women than men were enrolled in business, cosmetology, health, and modeling programs (Graphic 4), and more women than men completed in these areas. Except for real estate schools, Graphic 8 on page 19 shows that women out-numbered men in program completions for all program types. Of the 3,504 completions for which gender was reported, 65% were women, and 35% were men. The related percents for enrollments were 67% women, and 33% men.

[6]Graphic 5 and data Table 3 appear on pages 13 and 14 of this report.

COMPLETIONS, continued

Of the reported completions, 88% were White, Non-Hispanic; 8% were Black, Non-Hispanic; with the remaining 4% being other race/ethnic origin. These results agree with the enrollment rates that were described earlier: 85.8% White, Non-Hispanic; 10.2% Black, Non-Hispanic; 4% other race/ethnic origin.
